1. Overview of the Consolidated Operating Results, etc.

(1) Overview of the consolidated operating results

In the electronic machinery and equipment industry in the current consolidated fiscal year, demand increased primarily for industrial electronics and electronic components and devices, and the overall market for electronic machinery and equipment industry increased compared to the previous consolidated fiscal year.

In the ASIC business, the Group is providing optimal solutions for applications in customer devices and services, not only in the mainstay game console, digital camera, and office automation sectors, but also to major customers both inside and outside Japan in the industrial equipment area. Our competitive advantage is our ability to develop and provide System LSIs with unique algorithm architecture to solve our customers' problems based on our deep understanding of our customers' applications and our core proprietary technology.

In the ASSP business, to achieve further growth in a world where innovation in telecommunication technologies is occurring at a breakneck pace, the MegaChips Group has concentrated its management resources on the launch of new LSI business targeting the fields of industrial equipment, telecommunications, AI, energy control, robotics, and in-vehicle devices where future growth is expected. We strive to foster new businesses that will become an important pillar for future profits by developing and providing a superior, value-added solution capable of differentiation through initiatives to enhance the competitiveness of the analog circuit's development and design technology and engage in strategic collaboration with businesses inside and outside Japan.

As consolidated operating results for the current consolidated fiscal year, the MegaChips Group saw net sales of ¥75,256 million (a decrease of 10.2% from the previous consolidated fiscal year), mainly due to the decrease in net sales of SiTime Corporation in connection with it becoming an affiliated company from the second quarter of the previous fiscal year and the decrease in net sales of timing controller LSIs for LCD panels whose orders had ceased in the third quarter of the previous fiscal year, while, on the other hand, there was a steady demand primarily in the ASIC business for LSIs for storing game software (customized memories).

Regarding profits, operating profits, ordinary profits, and net income attributable to owners of the parent reached record highs. The operating profits amounted to ¥7,030 million (a 39.9% increase from the previous consolidated fiscal year) due to a reduction in SiTime Corporation's selling, general and administrative expenses in connection with it becoming an affiliated company from the first quarter of the previous fiscal year and improved business efficiency and ordinary profits totaled ¥7,857 million (a 100.8% increase from the previous consolidated fiscal year) as a result of ¥420 million of shares of profit of entities accounted for using the equity method.

In addition, due to the sale of a portion of shares in SiTime Corporation, an affiliated company, and an increase in SiTime Corporation's capital through a secondary offering, a gain on sales of shares of subsidiaries and associates of ¥29,251 million was recorded, resulting in net profit attributable to owners of parent of ¥27,544 (a 31.7% increase from the previous consolidated fiscal year).

Because the MegaChips Group operates as one business segment, no statement related to segment information has been presented.

We believe that the impact of the spread of the new coronavirus on our business performance in the next fiscal year will be limited in scope, based on the assumption that the virus will be under control by the end of fiscal 2022. However, it is extremely difficult to predict the impact on the demand for end products in which the Group's products are used, and the impact on our business performance may vary depending on future trends. We will continue to collect and analyze information on the impact of the coronavirus.

(5) Notes relating to consolidated financial statements

(Notes on going concern assumptions)

None

(Material changes in subsidiaries)

Since MegaChips VC USA LLC is newly established, it has been included in the scope of consolidation from the current consolidated fiscal year.

(Changes in accounting policies)

(Use of Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition)

The Company has applied the “Revised Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition” (ASBJ Statement No. 29, March 31, 2020, the “Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition”) and other standards from the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year, which recognizes revenue at the value expected to be received in exchange for the promised goods or services when control of the goods or services is transferred to the customer.

As such, the MegaChips Group has changed its method of revenue recognition from the conventional shipment time of the purchased goods to, among other factors, the time of arrival or the time of the acceptance inspection of the purchased goods. In the past, for transactions for the supply of parts and materials where there was no repurchase obligation, the consideration received from the supplier was recognized as revenue. If the parts and materials were subsequently repurchased as products from the supplier, an amount equivalent to the revenue related to the supply of parts and materials to the supplier was eliminated at the time of sale to the customer. However, the Company has changed to a method of not recognizing revenue from such supplier. In addition, for transactions in which the Company’s role is to function as an agent, we previously recognized revenue based on the total amount of consideration received from the customer, but we changed to a method of recognizing revenue on a net basis.

With respect to the application of the Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition and other standards, the Company has followed the transitional treatment prescribed in the proviso of Paragraph 84 of the Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition. The value of the cumulative effect of retroactively applying the new accounting standard prior to the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year has been added to or deducted from retained earnings at the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year. The accounting policy has been applied to the relevant opening balance.

As a result of the application of the Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition and other standards, the “notes and accounts receivable-trade”, that were included under “current assets” in the consolidated balance sheet for the previous consolidated fiscal year, are now included as “notes, accounts receivable-trade and contract assets” from the current consolidated fiscal year. In accordance with the transitional treatment prescribed in Paragraph 89-2 of the Accounting Standard for Revenue Recognition, no reclassification has been made for the previous fiscal year using the new presentation method.

As a result, net sales for the current consolidated cumulative second quarter decreased by ¥3,770,466 thousand. Also, as the cumulative effects are reflected on the net assets of the beginning of the current consolidated fiscal year, the balance of retained earnings at the beginning of the current fiscal year decreased by ¥1,063,352 thousand and the net assets per share decreased by ¥55.47. The impact of this change on operating profits, ordinary income, and profit before income taxes and earnings per share is minimal.

(Material accounting estimates)

(Valuation of unlisted stocks)

1 . Amount recorded in the consolidated financial statements of the current consolidated fiscal year

MegaChips and its consolidated US subsidiaries Group are investing in several overseas startup companies with cutting-edge technologies and ideas for medium- to long-term growth. Such investment amounts are recorded as investment securities of ¥1,689,271 thousand in the consolidated balance sheet of the current consolidated fiscal year and ¥367,170 thousand as shares of subsidiaries and associates (companies not accounted for using the equity method), which accounts for 2.3% of the total net assets.

2 . Other information that contributes to the understanding of users of consolidated financial statements

The investments held by MegaChips as non-marketable securities are carried at cost. When the value of investments decreases significantly, a loss on valuation will be recognized except when the recoverability of the real value is supported by sufficient evidence. Although, in accordance with U.S. GAAP, the investments held by the U.S. consolidated subsidiaries are calculated as the valuation of the balance sheet based on the acquisition cost with no easily determinable fair market price, a loss on valuation will be recognized when circumstances are identified that suggest that the fair value will be less than the acquisition cost, taking into account qualitative factors, including a significant deterioration in the investment's financial condition or future prospects.

As for the valuation of these investments, as a result of calculation of excess return included in the real value related to such investments in startups, there was no significant deterioration in the value of the investments held by the Company, nor was there a situation suggesting that the fair value of the investments held by the U.S. consolidated subsidiaries are less than the acquisition cost, thereby making it unnecessary to recognize a loss on valuation.
